Working at Cornell

HR Pillars and Priorities

We're focused on creating an ideal workplace for our employees - and here's how we're doing it.

Our Vision

The best staff and faculty in the world choose Cornell.

Our Mission

To collectively support an environment of inclusive excellence in scholarship where students, staff and faculty of Cornell learn, work and live as a community.

Our HR Community Structure

The HR Community includes members from both the centralized Division of the Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer, and the Human Resources departments dedicated to the colleges and units. This dual organizational structure provides our HR Community with a vast breadth of information about our workforce, and enables us to share knowledge and expertise to make decisions and implement initiatives that are in the best interest of our large, varied, population.

Our Pillars, Priorities, and Projects

Our Human Resources work is anchored by four pillars – Belonging, Effectiveness, Stewardship, and Talent – which we recognize as central to an ideal workplace for our employees. These pillars in turn, serve as the cornerstone for our annual priorities and projects.

PILLAR ONE

Increase the genuine sense of belonging of employees and retirees to Cornell

We are committed to embedding “One Cornell” in our workforce culture, and creating a workplace that allows all of us to be our best, most authentic, self.

Build a culture of belonging that supports our diverse workforce and champions inclusion for all members of our community

- Developed a 5-year strategic plan for increasing staff diversity and inclusion.
- Created the Disability is Diversity campaign to educate about the disability experience, build a community of disability allies, develop a culture in which individuals are empowered to speak out, and move our campus forward toward greater accessibility for all.
- Doubled the overall response rate by faculty, academics, staff and union employees for the spring 2018 voluntary disability self-identification survey. Results will provide a better picture of the diversity of our workforce and help to ensure that individuals with disabilities are supported and represented throughout the University.
- Established a centralized disability accommodations fund for faculty, staff and guest speakers/scholars invited to campus as of July 2018.
- Relaunched the Accessible Red Runner service to provide certain work and employment-related campus transportation effective as of July 2018.
- Revamped the Inclusive Excellence Academy to provide workshops that focus on the actions participants can immediately implement in their unit or department that positively affect diversity, inclusion, and a genuine sense of belonging, including a podcast and biannual summit.
- In development: Creating targeted recruitment plans for positions in key job families to increase diversity within the workforce.
- In discovery: Conducting an inclusivity assessment to determine and improve the inclusivity of HR functional areas.
- In discovery: Strengthening the structure and enhancing development opportunities offered through the colleague network groups.

Support employees in all aspects of their wellbeing

- Added a remote attendance option for nearly all Work/Life events and workshops.
- Developed targeted resources and programming to address silent and/or prolific issues impacting our staff and faculty, i.e., domestic violence, chronic tiredness and sleep issues.
- Added Care@Work, Care.com’s platform for employers, to the benefits program for faculty, staff, retirees and graduate students.
- Developed online presentation aligning university resources to the dimensions of wellbeing and programming to educate employees on the importance of care for the whole self.

Promote opportunities for employees and retirees to engage

- In discovery: Conducting an inclusivity assessment to determine and improve the inclusivity of HR functional areas.
Implemented a “hiring experience” section on the Acclimation Survey; results have improved our understanding of the importance of more communication during hiring and impact of already knowing someone in an employee’s sense of belonging.

- Created a networking and support group for relocated new hires.
- Developed a retiree exit survey; results have highlighted gender differences in employees’ feelings of financial “preparedness” for retirement.
- Piloted a series of new “belongingness” survey items with Alumni Affairs and Development.
- Launched an improved staff exit survey

[PILLAR TWO]

Enhance effectiveness of systems, technology, policies, procedures, and communications

We are committed to continuous improvement and thinking big in order to shrink roadblocks and make life easier for our employees.

"Effectiveness" priorities and projects

- Advance policies improvements and efficiencies
  - Improved priority policies to simplify and clarify content, and reduce administrative burden. Updated policies include:
    - guidelines for pay practices during Inclement Weather; and
    - several areas under Time Away from Work i.e., standardized the method for compensating holiday pay, simplified the formula for stopping and starting accruals while on paid leave, incorporated NYS Paid Family Leave law and aligned other aspects of Family and Medical Leaves for Staff with the federal FMLA
  - In development: identification and prioritization of additional policies

- Make it easy for employees to find and share information through improved communication strategies and vehicles
  - Implemented website improvements to hr.cornell.edu including a streamlined menu structure for easier navigation.
  - Completed audit of web pages and documents for compliance with WCAG 2.0 AA; several significant updates have been implemented, with more continuing.
  - Rebranded Working@Cornell Facebook presence to appeal to employees throughout the lifecycle at Cornell.
  - In development: strategic social media plan to engage current and prospective employees.

  - Implemented the new Workday time-and-attendance system for ~12,000 nonexempt, biweekly staff and student employees.
  - Launch of three new user-based dashboards as part of the ongoing effort to improve our employees’ experience.
PILLAR THREE
Serve as responsible stewards of the university’s resources

We are committed to exercising fiduciary responsibility in our service-centered environment.

"Stewardship" priorities and projects

- Review benefit programs and services for increased effectiveness and efficiencies
  - Completed a redesign of Cornell/vendor information for both Open Enrollment and Option Transfer for 2018, including new comprehensive guides that provided employees with decision worksheets and step-by-step instructions for completing their enrollments.
  - Completed a review of health and other benefit plans for the usage of gender terminology and to compare coverage and support for LGBTQIA+ faculty and staff. Findings were presented to the Employee Assembly.
  - Designed and implemented Cornell’s policy under the New York Paid Family Leave Act (NYPFL) providing a higher-level of compensated leave for staff to bond for a newborn or newly adopted child, or to care for a family member with a serious health condition.
  - Completed negotiation and renewal of Cornell/Aetna health plans for 2018, with a focus on plan enhancement (where possible) and mitigating cost increases to both staff and Cornell. Despite continued growth in medical and Rx claims, negotiated to maintain current level of plan design (no reductions) and to need to pass on only a modest increase in staff contributions.
  - Implemented a new benefits service model that offers employees enhanced counseling on health and retirement, as well as additional access to resources.
  - In development: re-constitution of a group of approximately 15 vendors, service providers and Cornell groups to review and assist Cornell staff and Ithaca area community with health-related issues. The group will be tasked with determining 3-5 high health needs areas per year to focus a concerted effort on education, prevention, treatment, and providing local and national resources.
  - In development: overall review and re-structuring/re-design of health plan information related to benefits.

PILLAR FOUR
Foster individual and organizational advancement through talent recruitment, development, and recognition strategies

We are committed to the career and overall satisfaction of our workforce, through opportunities for growth, recognition, and engagement.

"Talent" priorities and projects

- Promote continual development and growth as a way for employees to unleash their full potential
  - Developed and refreshed resources and tools to support employees as they navigate their career path, including a Workday portal for formal and informal experiential development opportunities; a networking/mentoring tool, Cornell Colleague Connections, that allows employees to connect with peers at the University; and the alignment of technical competencies with positions in Career Navigator.
  - Implemented a strategic, multi-channel approach to talent management that harnesses the power of career management, succession planning, and college/unit talent leads.
to become a more agile, innovative organization.

- Launched the Opportunity Graph in Workday, a new feature that helps employees explore career possibilities matched to job openings at Cornell.
