2021 financial payments

In the spring and early summer of 2020, the university announced a series of measures to ensure Cornell’s continued stability in light of the pandemic’s anticipated financial impact. Among those were temporary reductions in retirement contributions (for endowed employees) and in pay (for some contract college employees). We were able to rescind those measures in January 2021.

Because of the success of the financial measures, the university is now in a position to provide a one-time payment to current employees who were here on August 1, 2020 and experienced the temporary reduction in salary or retirement contributions in the 2020-2021 fiscal year.

Timing

Payments will be received in the:

- November 15 semi-monthly paycheck for exempt employees, and
- November 10 bi-weekly paycheck for non-exempt employees.

Criteria

Employees must meet all of the following criteria to be eligible to receive the one-time payment:

- Currently employed at Cornell and on the payroll as of November 1, 2021.
- Employed at Cornell as of August 1, 2020.
- For endowed employees, active in the Cornell University Retirement Plan (CURP) as of August 1, 2020.
- Experienced the temporary reduction in pay or retirement contributions in the 2020-2021 fiscal year.

- $1,250 to Endowed employees
- Tiered payment up to $750 based on annual base pay as of August 1, 2020 to Contract College employees

October 8, 2021 email from President Pollack, titled "Good News"

Dear Colleagues,

Throughout the difficult past year and a half, Cornell faculty and staff have worked with tremendous dedication and commitment. Thanks to your steadfast efforts, our students have continued to pursue their educations and our research has continued to produce exciting results. I am so thankful to all of you for everything you have done.

I write today with good news. In the spring and early summer of 2020, we announced a series of measures to ensure Cornell’s continued stability in light of the pandemic’s anticipated financial impact. Among those were temporary reductions in retirement contributions (for endowed colleges) and in salaries (for contract colleges).

We committed at the time to monitoring our financial situation carefully, and, if feasible, to rescinding those measures sooner than planned—which we were, happily, able to do in January of this year. I am delighted to announce that, because of the success of the financial measures we implemented, we are now in a position to go further and provide payments that partially return the reductions that employees took. Payments will be made to all current employees who were here on August 1, 2020 and who had a reduction last year. Employees who will be receiving a partial return payment will receive details via email shortly from Vice President Mary Opperman.

Thank you all, once again, for everything you have done and continue to do on behalf of Cornell.

Sincerely,

Martha E. Pollack
President
