

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

Affirmative Action Plan

As a federal contractor, Cornell University is bound by the federal laws that address affirmative action compliance. Each year, the university posts reports on its progress in addressing its compliance obligations.

2016-2017 Affirmative Action Documents

Cornell's annual affirmative action plan is available for inspection in the Department of Inclusion and Workforce Diversity 150 Day Hall, weekdays from 9:00 a.m. – 4:30 p.m. (excluding University holidays).

Other Regulatory Compliance

Disability Self-Identification

As a federal contractor, Cornell is obligated to periodically conduct a survey that invites employees to voluntarily self-identify their disability status. The survey is not simply for compliance though as the data is also used internally to inform our strategic diversity efforts in areas such as recruitment, retention and programming. An FAQ is available with details including who will have access to the information, how it will be used and what is considered a disability.

Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity

Race/Ethnicity Self-Identification

Cornell complies with record-keeping and reporting requirements for the administration of civil rights laws and regulations. In order to comply with these laws, employees are invited to voluntarily self-identify race and/or ethnicity in Workday.

For More Information

The Department of Inclusion and Workforce Diversity was established in January 2000 to provide leadership to the Cornell community in the areas of equal opportunity, affirmative action, and diversity. The department serves as a liaison to local community organizations that address the employment interests of individuals from traditionally underrepresented groups.
