A reasonable religious workplace accommodation is a change in the work environment or in the way tasks or responsibilities are customarily done that enables an employee to participate in his/her religious practice or belief without undue hardship on the conduct of Cornell University's business or operation, and that complies with the university's commitment to diversity and inclusiveness.

See University Policy 6.13.8 Religious Accommodation for more details. To consider your request for a religious workplace accommodation, please provide the information requested on next page.

Request for Religious Workplace Accommodation

(Please attach additional sheets if necessary)

What specific workplace accommodation do you request? (For example, time to pray, leave for religious observance, religious attire, etc.)

Identify your religious practice or belief and state how this accommodation enables you to participate in your religious practice or belief without impacting your ability to meet the required functions of your position.

State date[s]/frequency of requested accommodation (e.g., daily or weekly religious requirements) within academic (fiscal) year.

If you have requested this religious accommodation before, please state approximately when the request was made, the name of the individual who responded to the request, and the outcome of the request.

Religions Tenet(s) Documentation

If requested, can you obtain documentation or other authority to support the need for an accommodation based on your religious practice or belief? Yes _____ No _____

Please Note: In some cases, Cornell University will need to obtain documentation or other authority regarding your religious practice or belief. We may need to discuss the nature of your religious belief(s), practice(s) and accommodation with your religion's spiritual leader (if applicable) or religious scholars to address your request for an accommodation.

I verify that the above information is complete and accurate to the best of my knowledge and I understand that any intentional misrepresentation contained in this request may result in disciplinary action.
