

Cornell in New York City

Cornell University's New York City presence spans the length and breadth of Manhattan. Investigate our urban campus and learn about what we do in the Big Apple—cornell.edu/nyc.

AAP NYC

Occupying loft space near Union Square in Manhattan's West Village, the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning provides a bright and expansive workspace complete with studio and seminar rooms, computing facilities, and digital and analogue shop facilities. As a global center of design, planning, and art, New York City is an ideal location for advancing the college's academic mission.

50 W. 17th Street, 2nd floor, NY, NY 10011

aap.cornell.edu/nyc

Alumni Affairs and Development

The metro office of the Division of Alumni Affairs and Development is the gateway to alumni participation and involvement opportunities in the metropolitan New York City region.

230 Park Avenue, NY, NY 10017

alumni.cornell.edu

Campus-to-Campus Bus

Express bus service between Ithaca and Mid-town Manhattan, featuring comfortable single and double seating, ample work-room, internet service, a well-stocked galley, and other amenities.

c2cbus.com

The Cornell Club—New York

The Cornell Club—New York was founded to provide members, their friends, and associates with a forum for rekindling old friendships and forging new ones, to further extend the Cornell Alumni network, and to offer members a fine facility with excellent hospitality for enjoying meals or retreating from the busy bustle of New York City.

6 E. 44th Street, NY, NY 10017

cornellclubnyc.com

Cornell Cooperative Extension—NYC

Cornell Cooperative Extension in New York City is a research-based educational organization that adapts to the evolving needs of communities, families, and individuals by engaging them in experiential learning opportunities based in research.

183 Madison Avenue, Suite 606, NY, NY 10016

nyc.cce.cornell.edu

Cornell Financial Engineering Manhattan

Cornell Financial Engineering Manhattan fosters close working relationships between Cornell's School of Operations Research and Information Engineering and the financial services industry by building on the highly successful financial engineering program on the Ithaca campus.

55 Broad Street, NY, NY 10004

orie.cornell.edu/academics/master/cfem

Cornell ILR in NYC

Advancing greater knowledge and expertise about the workplace through teaching, research, and outreach, Cornell University, through the ILR School, is the nation's only institution of higher education to offer undergraduate and graduate degrees in the interdisciplinary field of workplace studies.

16 E. 34th Street, 6th floor, NY, NY 10016

ilr.cornell.edu/regionaloffices/NewYorkCity

Cornell Tech

A new campus in New York City is slated for completion in 2017. The school has been operating in temporary space at Google NYC headquarters since 2012. Cornell Tech offers graduate programs fusing technology with business and creative thinking.

111 Eighth Avenue, NY, NY 10011

tech.cornell.edu

Weill Cornell Graduate School of Medical Sciences

An academic partnership originally established between Weill Cornell Medical College and Sloan-Kettering Institute now boasts a faculty whose research interests span the full spectrum of biomedicine.

1300 York Avenue, NY, NY 10021

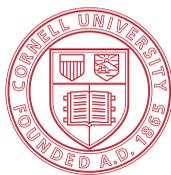

weill.cornell.edu/gradschool

Weill Cornell Medical College

The 11-building medical education, research, and treatment complex covers more than six and a quarter acres over three city blocks between York Avenue and the East River.

1300 York Avenue, NY, NY 10021

med.cornell.edu

Cornell University